TUESDAY EVENING, OCT. 23, 1906.

When in my teens, milking seven cows morning and evening and toiling on the farm all day, I made favorites of a bay mare and a Durham cow— Molly and Bess. Talk about your physical sympathy! Why, it was pathetic. Molly was my saddle horse, a single footer of rare excellence. I could ride her with one finger on the reins into the most forbidding places. Old Bess—oh, she used to kick a tooth out once in awhile and put her foot in the pail of milk, but the dear girl would follow me about with the affection of a child! Well, I was absent from the old home five years and re-turning found that of all the animals only Molly and Bess remained. Imagine my distress when Molly refused to notice me at all! While wondering at this loss of friendship I felt a warm, rasplike thing going over my hand, which was behind my back. Turning, saw dear old Bess. Without notice she had come to lick me. If ever animal spoke with eyes and manner she did. Her happiness at seeing me again after so long a period was apparent to all observers, and during my brief stay at home it was all I could do to keep her from following me into the house -New York Press.

No "Deadhead" Trip.

One of the most famous of American shipping lines in the palmy days of our marine was the Cope line, which ran between Philadelphia and Liverpool, tays the author of "Memoirs of Charles H. Cramp." By this line John Randolph of Roanoke determined to go to Russia when he had been appointed minister to that country by President Jackson. Entering the office of the company in Philadelphia, he said to a clerk in his usual grandiloquent man-

"Sir, I wish to see Thomas P. Cope." He was shown to Mr. Cope's office. "I am John Randolph of Roanoke," "I wish to take passage to he said. Liverpool in one of your ships.' If he expected to be tendered a pass ne was grievously disappointed.

"I am Thomas Cope," replied the head of the line. "If thee goes abourd the ship and selects thy stateroom and will pay $150 thee may go."

A Timely Shake.

Some years ago the Duke of Connaught visited Japan and was taken by Sir Edwin Arnold round the bazars of Tokyo, where he bought many curlous toys and specimens of Japanese art. In the evening he remarked to Sir Edwin that he had seen most of the sights, but had not experienced any of the earthquakes which are so common in Japan,

"I suppose you cannot show one?" said the duke jestingly. Immediately the house shook, the chandeller swayed backward and forward, the china and glass on the table rattled, and the door burst open. "Why, Sir Edwin, you are a magician!" remarked the duke as the shock, which had happened at so curious a moment, subsided.

A Remarkable Epitaph.

A remarkable epitaph is on a tombstone in Brighton churchyard in England. It reads: "In memory of Phoebe Hessel, who was born at Stepney in the year 1718. She served for many years as a private soldier in the Fifth regiment of foot in different parts of Europe, and in the year 1745 fought under the command of the Duke of Cumberland at the battle of Fontency, where she received a bayonet wound in her arm. Her long life, which commenced in the time of Queen Anne, extended to the reign of George IV., by whose munificence she receiv-ed comfort and support in her latter years. She died at Brighton, where she had long resided, Dec. 12, 1821, aged 108 years."

Atlantic Billows.

The authorities of the United States hydrographic bureau have endeavored to ascertain the size of the Atlantic waves. From careful observations waves. From Catelan observations they learn that in height the waves usually average about thirty feet, but in rough weather they attain from in rough weather they attain from forty to forty-eight feet. In storms they are often from 500 to 600 feet long and continue to move about ten or eleven seconds, while the longest yet known measured half a mile and did not exhaust itself for twenty-three sec

Women as Travelers. As a matter of genuine fact women in nine cases out of ten, are better travelers than men are. To begin with, if not so stodgily accurate, although that by no manner of means follows, they are more fluent in modern languages. They chatter in them, say the male things. Ergo, they are the more colloquial, the readier to circumvent the wiles and extortions of keliner or of garcon.-London Gentle woman.

"What kind of a dog is that?" asked the inquisitive man. "I dunno jes' what kind of a dog be ia." answered Mr. Erastus Pinkley, "but he's got good stock in 'im. Dat dog is so many kinds of dog dat dar's got to be good dog somewhere."-Washington Star.

JEWELRY. Honsekeening?

If so, you can hardly get along without spoons, knives and forks. The silver-plated are without a doubt the most economical in the end. They wear longer, look better and cost very little more than the ordinary kinds. We can even supply silver-plated knives with steel blades.

Your sideboard is hardly complete without a silver set. Silver cake and fruit baskets should also be placed there.

A candelabra with will brighten the table considerably. After the spread has been cleared off a silver fern dish should be placed on the table.

The necessary things in cut-glass are the decenter, the berry bowl and the celery dish. In a great many homes the ice cream is served on cut glass plates.

On your dresser place a traveling alarm clock and a sterling silver or silver-plated toilet set, also a hat and clothes brush.

You will find plenty use of a number of small silver-plated trays. One has always so many triokets to take carg of.

There should be a jewel case on the dresser, if only for appenrance sake. Over night it is a good place to keep the watch and Z.—K. Gold Chain.
